About the Authors

Laurie Murphy has been an academic staff member in the School of Business at JCU since 1991 (part-time from 1998-2005). Her current research interests include destination branding and marketing particularly at a regional level, and tourist shopping villages. She has also published research on the backpacker travel market which influenced the development of a National Backpacker Tourism Strategy by the Australian Federal Government in 1995. Laurie is on the editorial board of the Journal of Travel and Tourism Marketing and the Journal of Travel Research.

Gianna Moscardo has been a member of the academic staff of the School of Business since February 2002. Before joining the School of Business she had been a Principal Research Fellow and project leader in tourism research in the Cooperative Research Centres for Reef and Rainforest for eight years managing a series of research and extension activities aimed at enhancing the sustainability of tourism activities in Northern Australia. To date she has authored or co-authored more than 150 refereed international research publications including 3 research books, and more than 45 articles in international academic journals. She was elected to the World Tourism Organization's International Academy for the Study of Tourism Scholars in 2005.

Pierre Benckendorff is a Senior Lecturer at University of Queensland and an adjunct Senior Lecturer in Tourism Management in the School of Business, James Cook University, Australia. His current research interests include visitor attraction management, urban and built tourism settings, entertainment, tourism technologies and tourism education and he has authored and co-authored a number of academic articles in these areas. He is a member of several international tourism organisations including the Council for Australian University Tourism and Hospitality Educators, the Asia Pacific Tourism Association and the PATA Young professionals.

250 About the Authors

Philip Pearce is the Foundation Professor of Tourism at James Cook University. His interests in tourism were developed during his doctoral studies at Oxford University where he analysed the behaviour of tourists on European package tours. He has a continuing interest in tourist behaviour and has written 7 books concerned with aspects of tourism including co-authoring the recent volume with Routledge Tourists Tourism and the Good Life. He is a founding member of the International Academy for the Study of Tourism and Honorary Professor at Xi'an International Studies University, Xi'an, China.
