Exploring global trends in nursing and midwifery education

Professor Jane Mills
Director Centre for Nursing and Midwifery Research
Student nurse

1985-1988

2015
Global trends

Connectivity
Global trends

Shrinking

Pluristic
Three key trends

1. Cultural competence
2. Leadership on all levels
3. Interprofessional education
Cultural competence

Beauty in difference
Collaboration in commonalities
Strength in diversity
Global trends

The content of cultural safety education is focused on the understanding of self as a cultural bearer; the historical, social and political influences on health; and the development of relationships that engender trust and respect.

Cultural safety definition from Nursing Council of New Zealand
Core skills

Deeper competencies and intelligences to.....

Learn
Teach
Communicate
Collaborate
Think
Listen
Lead

To future proof the profession

We are all in this together

(Conway et al., 2011; HWA, 2012).
“It’s more than knowing how to perform tasks and procedures. It’s how to be a more effective player on the healthcare team and navigate clinical systems, and that’s not traditionally taught in a classroom.”

Dr Michael Bleich; Future of Nursing project
Leadership at Levels

Effective leadership is needed at every level

Nurses must be proactive, considered, selective and deliberate

Productive leadership can generate a ripple effect
Interprofessional education

"Interprofessional Education occurs when two or more professions learn with, from and about each other to improve collaboration and the quality of care”

(CAIPE, 2002)
Interprofessional education

Prepares health professional students to work collaboratively in a team environment and provide safe, person centred care

(Buring, 2009; Nisbet et al., 2011; Reeves et al., 2008).
As you can tell I am growing. And you warn me the world is shrinking.

I wonder about my role in the this rapidly changing world. Do I have a place? I wonder about my future – about our future. Can you help me?
“Be the change you want to see in the world.”
Gandhi
Questions
jane.mills@jcu.edu.au

https://research.jcu.edu.au/portfolio/jane.mills/