

Cultures in Refuge
Seeking Sanctuary in Modern Australia

Edited by
Anna Hayes and Robert Mason

ASHGATE e-BOOK

Cultures in Refuge

Seeking Sanctuary in Modern Australia

Edited by

ANNA HAYES

University of Southern Queensland, Australia

ROBERT MASON

University of Southern Queensland, Australia

ASHGATE

© Anna Hayes and Robert Mason 2012

All rights reserved. No part of this publication may be reproduced, stored in a retrieval system or transmitted in any form or by any means, electronic, mechanical, photocopying, recording or otherwise without the prior permission of the publisher.

Anna Hayes and Robert Mason have asserted their right under the Copyright, Designs and Patents Act, 1988, to be identified as the editors of this work.

Published by

Ashgate Publishing Limited
Wey Court East
Union Road
Farnham
Surrey, GU9 7PT
England

Ashgate Publishing Company
Suite 420
101 Cherry Street
Burlington
VT 05401-4405
USA

www.ashgate.com

British Library Cataloguing in Publication Data

Cultures in refuge : seeking sanctuary in modern Australia.

-- (Studies in migration and diaspora)

1. Political refugees--Australia--Social conditions.
2. Ethnicity--Australia. 3. Australia--Emigration and immigration--Social aspects.

I. Series II. Hayes, Anna, 1977- III. Mason, Robert, 1981-
305.9'06914'0994--dc23

Library of Congress Cataloging-in-Publication Data

Hayes, Anna, 1977-

Cultures in refuge : seeking sanctuary in modern Australia / by Anna Hayes and Robert Mason.

p. cm. -- (Studies in migration and diaspora)

Includes bibliographical references and index.

ISBN 978-1-4094-3475-7 (hbk) -- ISBN 978-1-4094-3476-4 (ebook) 1. Australia--Emigration and immigration--Social aspects. 2. Australia--Ethnic relations. 3. Refugees--Australia. 4. Immigrants--Australia. 5. Group identity--Australia. I. Mason, Robert, 1981- II. Title.

JV9125.2.H39 2012

305.9'069140994--dc23

ISBN 9781409434757 (hbk)

2012013757

ISBN 9781409434764 (ebk)

Printed and bound in Great Britain by the MPG Books Group, UK.

Contents

List of Figures and Tables	vii
List of Contributors	ix
1	Introduction. Towards Sanctuary: Securing Refugees and Forced Migrants in Multicultural Australia Robert Mason and Anna Hayes	1
PART I	FINDING NARRATIVES OF BELONGING
2	White Australia and Otherness: The Limits to Hospitality Jane Haggis	15
3	The Politics of Asylum and Identities in Exile: Negotiating Place and Meaning Claudia Tazreiter	31
4	Beyond the Rhetoric of Inclusion: Our Responsibility to Refugees Farida Fozdar	49
PART II	NEGOTIATING THE SHADOW OF THE PAST
5	'Don't forget you are Jewish': Holocaust Survivors, Identity Formation and Sense of Belonging in Australia Michele Langfield	67
6	Fragmented Histories: The Intergenerational Transmission of War Memories in the Vietnamese Diaspora Nathalie Huynh Chau Nguyen	79

Studies in Migration and Diaspora

Series Editor:

Anne J. Kershen, Queen Mary, University of London, UK

Studies in Migration and Diaspora is a series designed to showcase the interdisciplinary and multidisciplinary nature of research in this important field. Volumes in the series cover local, national and global issues and engage with both historical and contemporary events. The books will appeal to scholars, students and all those engaged in the study of migration and diaspora. Amongst the topics covered are minority ethnic relations, transnational movements and the cultural, social and political implications of moving from 'over there', to 'over here'.

Also in the series:

Migration, Citizenship and Intercultural Relations
Looking through the Lens of Social Inclusion
Edited by Fethi Mansouri and Michele Lobo

Ethnicity and Education in England and Europe
Gangstas, Geeks and Gorjas
Ian Law and Sarah Swann

Masculinity, Sexuality and Illegal Migration
Human Smuggling from Pakistan to Europe
Ali Nobil Ahmad

Globalization, Migration and Social Transformation
Ireland in Europe and the World
Edited by Bryan Fanning and Ronaldo Munck

Whiteness and Postcolonialism in the Nordic Region
Exceptionalism, Migrant Others and National Identities
Edited by Kristín Loftsdóttir and Lars Jensen

European Identity and Culture
Narratives of Transnational Belonging
Edited by Rebecca Friedman and Markus Thiel

7	Coalitions of Justice: Articulating Democratic Transition in Australia's Salvadoran Community Robert Mason	95
8	Ascribing Identities and Negotiating Stereotypes: Case Study of Inter-country Adoptees Richard Gehrman	113
PART III COMMUNICATING CULTURAL SECURITY
9	Provincializing Perth? Satellite Television and the Chinese in Perth Susan Leong and Qian Gong	133
10	Institutional Islamophobia in the Cases of Ahmed Zaoui and Mohamed Haneef Malcolm D. Brown	149
11	Fear Online: Seeking Sanctuary in Online Forums Anne Aly	163
12	Uighur Transnationalism in Contemporary Australia: Exile, Sanctuary, Community and Future Anna Hayes	179
	Index	195

List of Figures and Tables

Figures

9.1	Two satellite dishes in a suburban Perth backyard	135
-----	---	-----

Tables

3.1	Off-shore (a, b and c) and on-shore (d and e) refugee arrivals 1996–2006	34
10.1	Comparative timelines of the Zaoui and Haneef cases	152

List of Contributors

Anne Aly ECR Fellow (Social Sciences), Curtin University, Australia

Anne Aly is an Early Career Research Fellow at Curtin University. She has a professional background in policy having worked as a Senior Policy Officer and Manager within the Western Australian Government. Anne's research interests are in the areas of terrorism studies and counter terrorism with a focus on the public and policy responses to terrorism. Her PhD explored the mediated fear of terrorism among Muslim communities and the broader community in Australia. Anne has published widely on diverse issues including Muslim identity, Muslim media activism, terrorism and the internet, the terrorism discourse and counter terrorism responses. She has presented at national and international conferences and workshops on terrorism and counter terrorism and Australian Arab relations. She is the author of Terrorism and Global Security: Historical and Contemporary Approaches (Palgrave Macmillan, 2011).

Malcolm D. Brown Senior Lecturer (Sociology), University of Southern Queensland, Australia

Malcolm Brown is a Senior Lecturer in Social Science at the University of Southern Queensland, having previously worked in the United Kingdom, France, and New Zealand. He grew up in the small tourist town of Pitlochry in the Scottish Highlands and studied at the University of Glasgow, where he wrote a doctoral thesis on the construction of Muslim identities in the United Kingdom and France. Since then, and until recently, his research has focused on the sociological study of religion, racism, and Islamophobia. Major publications include Racism (with Robert Miles, Routledge, 2003), 'Reflections on Islam and Pacifism' (The Australasian Journal of Human Security, 2006), and 'The Multi-Faith Ethic and the Spirit of Social Business' (Journal of Social Business, 2012). His current research is located in the study of development, with a focus on social enterprise and cooperation between Non-Government Organisations in South East Asia.

Farida Fozdar Professor and Future Fellow (Sociology and Anthropology), University of Western Australia, Australia

Farida Fozdar is a Professor in Anthropology and Sociology at the University of Western Australia. After holding a position at Murdoch University since 2003, she took up an ARC Future Fellowship at UWA in 2011, exploring national, transnational and postnational identities. Her research has focused on race relations and migrant settlement, racism, citizenship and nationalism, and issues to do with refugees and asylum seekers, often using a discursive analysis approach. She has undertaken a range of research projects including topics such as refugees and employment, refugees and mental health, settlement issues for migrants generally, integration of asylum seekers in regional Australia, cross cultural interaction in educational settings, social exclusion of Muslims, Christianity in the public sphere, housing and refugees, the use of flags on cars for Australia Day, and issues of social cohesion and citizenship more broadly. She has also undertaken practical research including developing a cultural awareness tool for health professionals and developing a package on career and training options for new migrant and refugee young people, and evaluations of migrant settlement programs. She uses innovative methodologies, including most recently photovoice. Farida has published widely including three books, seven book chapters and more than 30 journal articles, as well as authoring reports to government and research consultancies.

Richard Gehrman Senior Lecturer (International Relations), University of Southern Queensland, Australia

Richard Gehrman is a Senior Lecturer at the University of Southern Queensland where he teaches International Relations. He has previously taught at the University of Queensland and has also worked in the field of international development and reconstruction in Iraq and Afghanistan. Richard's recent publications have explored the migration dimensions of intercountry adoption, the idealized culture of the university, and war and society in contemporary Afghanistan. He is interested in cultural identity, social inclusion and regionalism and is currently researching the experiences of Australians in British India, and the southern African diasporas of the late 20th century.

Qian Gong Lecturer (Asian Languages), Curtin University, Australia

Qian Gong is an Asian Languages lecturer in the Department of Asian Languages, Faculty of Humanities in Curtin University. Her research interests include Chinese media, the transformation of revolutionary culture in contemporary Chinese society and Chinese popular culture. Her most recent publications include 'Living

Red: Production, Consumption and Local Memory of Revolutionary Culture' in Mapping Media in China: Region, Province, Locality edited by Wanning Sun and Jenny Chio (Routledge, 2012) and 'Red Women and TV Drama' in Contemporary Chinese Visual Culture: Tradition, Modernity, and Globalization edited by Christopher Crouch (Cambria Press, 2010).

Jane Haggis Associate Professor (International Studies), Flinders University, Australia

Jane Haggis is an Associate Professor in International Studies in the School of International Studies at Flinders University. She has published widely in development and culture, historiography of gender and colonialism and in critical race and whiteness studies. She is currently writing a monograph titled Storying the Borderlands. Transnational imaginaries of modernity in settling the refugee.

Anna Hayes Senior Lecturer (International Relations), University of Southern Queensland, Australia

Anna Hayes is a Senior Lecturer in International Relations at the University of Southern Queensland. She has published a number of articles examining the human security dimension of the HIV/AIDS epidemic in China. More recently, she has conducted research on the Uighur diaspora in Adelaide Australia, and their experiences of living outside of the Chinese state. She is also the co-editor of the forthcoming book Migration and Insecurity: Citizenship and social inclusion in a transnational era (with Niklaus Steiner and Robert Mason, Routledge, 2012).

Michele Langfield Associate Professor (History), Deakin University, Australia

Michele Langfield is an Honorary Associate Professor of History, linked to the School of Humanities and Social Sciences in the Faculty of Arts and Education at Deakin University. She has worked on a variety of projects such as the history of the Jewish Holocaust Museum and Research Centre in Melbourne and a history of the Salvation Army Migration activities (especially in relation to children) within the British Dominions. She has published in the fields of migration, multiculturalism, ethnicity, identity and cultural heritage. Her books include Espresso Bar to EMC: a thirty-year history of the Ecumenical Migration Centre (Monash University, 1996) and More People Imperative: Immigration to Australia, 1901-39 (National Archives of Australia, 1999), an annotated research guide to the immigration records of the National Archives of Australia. She is co-author of Welsh Patagonians: The Australian Connection (with Peta Roberts, Crossing Press, 2005) and co-

Nathalie Huynh Chau Nguyen Associate Professor and Future Fellow (Australian Studies), Monash University, Australia

Nathalie Huynh Chau Nguyen is Associate Professor and Australian Research Council Future Fellow (2011-15) at the National Centre for Australian Studies in the School of Journalism, Australian and Indigenous Studies at Monash University. A graduate of the Universities of Melbourne and Oxford, her other fellowships include an Australian Research Council Australian Research Fellowship (2005-10) at the Australian Centre at the University of Melbourne, a 2007 Harold White Fellowship at the National Library of Australia, and a 2011 Visiting Research Fellowship at the Refugee Studies Centre at the University of Oxford. She is the author of three books: Vietnamese Voices: Gender and Cultural Identity in the Vietnamese Francophone Novel (Southeast Asia Publications, 2003); Voyage of Hope: Vietnamese Australian Women's Narratives (Common Ground, 2005), which was shortlisted for the 2007 New South Wales Premier's Literary Awards; and Memory is Another Country: Women of the Vietnamese Diaspora (Praeger, 2009), which received international recognition as a Choice Outstanding Academic Title, 2010 (Choice, January 2011).

Claudia Tazreiter Senior Lecturer (Sociology), University of New South Wales, Australia

Claudia Tazreiter is a Senior Lecturer in the Sociology and Anthropology program at the University of New South Wales. Her research and publications focus on contemporary social theory, migration, human rights, social memory, social movements, civil society and cosmopolitanism. She is involved in a number of collaborative research projects on forced migration, contemporary citizenship and justice, cultural diversity, and gender specific forms of violence. Claudia's publications include Asylum Seekers and the State: The Politics of Protection in a Security-Conscious World (Ashgate 2004, 2006) and Globalization and Social Transformation in the Asia Pacific: The Australian and Malaysian Experience (Palgrave MacMillan, 2012). In 2011 she was Visiting Fellow at CERI, Sciences Po. She is Associate and former Visiting Fellow of the Institute for Migration, Research and Inter-cultural Studies University of Osnabruck. Claudia is Managing Editor of the Australian Journal of Human Rights and an Associate of the Australian Centre for Human Rights. She is currently completing a three-year Australian Research Council funded study of temporary migrant workers in the Asia Pacific.

editor of Testifying to the Holocaust (with Pam Maclean and Dvir Abramovich, Australian Association of Jewish Studies, 2008) and Cultural Diversity, Heritage and Human Rights: Intersections in Theory and Practice (with William Logan and Mairead Nic Craith, Routledge, 2010). Her on-going research projects include the preservation of cultural heritage, especially for minority groups in Australia, non-government organisations and migration, the peopling and cultural heritage of the Northern Territory, and the gender dimensions of migration policy and practice. Much of her work is comparative, especially with Canada.

Susan Leong Lecturer (Creative Industries), Queensland University of Technology, Australia

Susan Leong is a Lecturer in Creative Industries in the School of Media and Communication at the Queensland University of Technology. Susan is currently engaged in the development of a theoretical framework and project for understanding the relationships between home nations and diasporas via media and their relation to extra-national sovereignty – the Franchise Nation project. Her research interests include work on the Indian diaspora in Australia, media and ethnic minorities in Singapore, Malaysia and Australia, the inclusion/exclusion of non-users of the internet in nations and new media within the Malaysian social imaginary. Her recent publications include journal articles, 'Sacred Cows and Crashing Boards: Ethno-Religious Minorities and the Politics of Online Representation in Malaysia' in Critical Asian Studies (2012) and 'Franchise Nations: the Future of Nations?' (2009) as well as 'No longer Singaporean' (2011) in Continuum: Journal of Media & Cultural Studies.

Robert Mason Lecturer (History), University of Southern Queensland, Australia

Robert Mason is a Lecturer in History in the School of Humanities and Communication at the University of Southern Queensland. His research is in the areas of Australian multiculturalism, Hispanic populations in the Asia-Pacific, and legacies of trauma and loss in the public space. His most recent publications investigate transnational social movements in local contexts, focusing particularly on the effect of political memories on Australia's Spanish-speaking migrant communities. Together with Niklaus Steiner and Anna Hayes, he is the co-editor of the forthcoming book Migration and Insecurity: Citizenship and social inclusion in a transnational era (Routledge, 2012).